BROUSE HOME ENTERED—
MONEY AND RINGS GONE

A burglar, who in all probability is someone who knows the habits of the citizens of the valley, has been working in the vicinity of Cypress avenue, where he entered one home and secured a quantity of valuables, and attempted to enter another.

The home of Otto Brouse was entered in their absence on Wednesday night, and three small banks belonging to children, with their contents were taken, also a pair of trousers, $15 in cash, a watch and a ring.

The same night an attempt was made to enter the adjoining house of J. W. Groover, but the thief was evidently frightened away, as he did not affect an entrance. Constable Saunders and the county authorities are investigating.

WILLARD RYUNYON WEDS
MISS MAUDE BRUBAKER

Many friends throughout the Covina valley will be interested to learn of the marriage last Sunday morning at 8 o'clock of Willard Runyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Runyon of Cypress and Glendora avenues, to Miss Maude Brubaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brubaker of Rowland avenue, the ceremony being performed by Rev. George F. Chamberlain of the Brethren church, of which the two young people are members.

The ranch home of the bride's parents was very attractively decorated in smilax, ferns and autumn flowers. The couple were married in the living room, and the ceremony was witnessed by a number of the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. Miss Hilda Brubaker played the wedding march as they approached the altar. Miss Elizabeth Laycock and Ruby Runyon acted as flower girls, lending a very pretty touch to the simple ceremony.

The young people both attended the schools here, the bride later attending La Verne college and university of Southern California. Mr. Runyon has a responsible position in the shipyards at Long Beach, and the couple, after a short honeymoon, will take up their residence in that city. The young people are very well and favorably known in social and church circles throughout the valley, and are the recipients of many congratulations.

R. M. BOWMAN MOVES INTO NEW CEMENT PIPE YARD

R. M. Bowman, well known cement contractor of the Covina valley, announces this week that he has purchased the interest in the business owned by Wayne Weaver, and that he will conduct the business of concrete pipe-making at his new yards in the rear of W. D. Young's packing house on the Southern Pacific right-of-way.

Mr. Bowman has fitted up a yard and buildings at this point, moving his stock from the yard that has been for years on College street, near the Covina Irrigating company office. The entrance to his new yard is on the north of the packing house. He will engage principally in the making of cement pipe for irrigating systems.

LEISURE A CHAMPION
IN WRITING INSURANCE

Heyt M. Leisure, son of Mrs. Alice Leisure, formerly residents for some years of the city of Covina, is making a phenomenal success in his chosen line of selling insurance.

The two hundred thousand dollar club of the Occidental Life Insurance Company, which makes this amount of money in written insurance the minimum amount necessary for a membership in the body, has chosen Mr. Leisure as president because of the fact that he has written $750,000 worth of insurance in the past year. This is the high water mark of insurance writing in this company in the state. Mr. Leisure wrote the greater portion of this amount in the Imperial and San Joaquin valleys.

PRE-NUPITAL DANCE AFFAIR
AT GEORGE PHILLIPS HOME

At the beautifully-appointed ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Phillips on West Cypress avenue last night, a happy affair was given in honor of Lieutenant Wilbur S. Nye and his bride-to-be, Miss Ellean Griffiths, who are to be married in the Holy Trinity Episcopal church on the evening of September 7.

The party was given to about thirty-five of the young people belonging to the social set of Lieutenant Nye and Miss Griffiths, and the feature of the evening was dancing, which was enjoyed until a late hour. Miss Dorlene Jones, the young niece of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, who has been visiting at the Phillips home this summer, shared in the honors of the evening. This charming girl from Utica, New York, has made an imposing list of friends during her summer's stay here.

SHERMAN GAIL WEDS
POPULAR ONTARIO GIRL

Many friends in law circles and among the ex-service men of California have tendered congratulations this week because of the marriage of Sherman Gail of Covina to Miss Helen Harding of Ontario, which took place at the Ontario home of the bride's parents last Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Gail is a young attorney of the Covina valley, whose early education was received here, and he is a graduate in liberal arts and law of the University of Southern California, holding the degree of jurist doctor. He is in charge of escrow work for the Los Angeles Trust & Savings bank. His parents are Attorney and Mrs. F. W. Gail of Navilla Place. During the war he was in France with the First army, in the ordinance corps, assigned to ammunition, and held the rank of sergeant. He was in France for eleven months, and in service for eighteen months.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Britton Harding of Ontario, the former an official in one of the banks of that city. She is a graduate of the high school and of the Los Angeles Normal, teaching in Corona schools for the past three years.

The residence was very beautifully decorated for the occasion in asparagus plumosis, autumn asters of pink and white, and with pink amaryllis and tulles. Just before the ceremony Mrs. Norma Rockhold Robbins of Los Angeles, well known mezzo-soprano soloist, rendered Cadman's appropriate love-song, "At Dawning." Miss Vinal Palmer of the music department of Chaffee high school heralded the approach of the bridal party with the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride was attired in white silk and real lace, the gown being remodelled from the one in which her mother was married. The conventional wedding veil was of rare old lace, passed down in the family from the bride's grandmother. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and fernery, coming in on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

Miss Margaret Barron Knox of Ontario, an intimate friend of the bride was bridesmaid, and George Knox, best man. Little Betty Knox of Anaheim, in dainty frock of white, trimmed with pink ribbons, acted as flower girl, with Master Bobbie Witter of Pomona as ring-bearer. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Earle Smith of the Ontario Baptist church, of which the bride is a member.

Following the reception the bride and groom left for Idlewild, in the San Jacinto mountains, and on their return they will be at home after October first at 104 Navilla Place, where Mr. Gail has prepared a home for his bride. The young people have a host of friends in both cities, as the bride was born and educated in Ontario, where she was prominent in church and social circles, while Sherman Gail has been a part of the social activity of the younger set of Covina, and during the war witnessed his list of friends among the men who went out to put the Kaiser in retirement.

W. C. T. U. UNION SERVICE
NEXT SUNDAY EVENING

For some years it has been the custom for the ministers of the city to give the local W. C. T. U. one of the summer union Sunday evening meetings, with the collection, and next Sunday's meeting will be held in the auditorium of the grammar school at seven thirty. Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, president of Southern California W. C. T. U., will be the speaker. Mrs. Wheeler, who lives at Baldwin Park now, but recently returned from a year and a half in Australia and New Zealand, where she went as a world's temperance missionary, and she has a most interesting and at times intensely dramatic story to tell of conditions in Australia. With the service beginning at half past seven and in the auditorium, it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

NEW NOTION STORE WILL OPEN ON CITRUS AVENUE

Stewart McPeake, proprietor of the new billiard hall on Citrus avenue, who owns the building he occupies, and also the one next to him from which he recently moved, has leased the building he vacated to O. C. Wisdom, now of Gardena, but recently from the middle-west.

The building is being entirely remodelled inside, and Mr. Wisdom will conduct a racket store, carrying a large stock of all kinds of small household articles. The store will be open for business sometime during the coming week.

COVINA LABORER LOST—
FOUND IN HOSPITAL

Daniel Lahy, a laborer well known in Covina, gave his friends here a great deal of anxiety during the past ten days because of his disappearance. Lahy had been working on the new gas plant in Los Angeles, and suddenly dropped from sight. He was located this week in a hospital, where he had been taken because of injuries received while working. He is reported as improving slowly.

Miss Frona V. Clarke will resume her piano classes in Covina on Friday, Sept. 9th, at residence of R. M. Bowman, phone 985. Starting with week of Sept. 12th, on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 125 E. Center street, phone 1091, and Saturdays at R. M. Bowman's.

TOM REED APPOINTED
GRADE SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Attorney Thomas B. Reed, justice of the peace of Covina, was this week appointed by County Superintendent Mark Keppel to occupy the position on the Covina grammar school board made vacant through the death of Alois Nigg.

The grammar school will open session on Monday, September 12, and will occupy the manual training room as a class room, the remodeling having been done during the vacation season. This is expected to give sufficient room for the incoming scholars.

The decision has also been made to buy a truck for the transportation of scholars in that district. It is also understood that Charter Oak district will also buy a truck, and will make some kind of an arrangement with the West Covina district by which the same truck can be used for transporting scholars of both districts.

The grammar school districts of the valley have not heretofore utilized trucks of their own, having depended upon the high school trucks, but a recent decision of the high school board, taking the ground that it is illegal for a high school to have business relations with grammar schools, makes it necessary to purchase trucks for this purpose. While it is a duplication of transportation which will cost the taxpayers many thousands of dollars in excess of the transportation expenses of the past, it is nevertheless necessary to take the step because of the refusal of the high school board to further carry on the old system.

High school officials said this week that while it had been a technical violation of the school law for high schools to transport grammar school scholars, it had been the policy to do so in past years because it effected a very considerable economy, besides making it possible to bring grammar school scholars in to the high school for work in mechanical studies and other studies for which the outside districts were not equipped.

STOLEN MOTORCYCLE IS RECOVERED AT RED BLUFF

The motorcycle belonging to Oscar Holter, a laborer which was stolen recently when left outside his place of living in the Amon building on Badillo street, has been recovered through a systematic tracing by Constable J. J. Saunders.

By keeping in touch with constables throughout the state, Constable Saunders finally received a communication from the authorities at Red Bluff, in the northern part of the state, with the information that the machine had been found where it had been abandoned by the roadside.

NEW CEMENT CONTRACTOR
ESTABLISHED IN VALLEY

S. H. Coombs, a newcomer from Cedar Falls, Iowa, is an addition this week to the business men of the valley. He has established himself on Cypress avenue, near Azusa avenue, and will engage in putting in cement walks, curbs, driveways and steps, or cement floors.

Mr. Coombs has been for eighteen years in this business in his home town in Iowa. He said this week that he had been very favorably impressed with the progress and prosperity of this valley, and was sure that a big future in his line of work could be expected. He is announcing his business in an advertisement in this issue.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN
FOR MORE NURSES

The Red Cross nursing service is making an active campaign throughout the United States to secure 500 nurses immediately to care for ex-service men in hospitals. Miss Lillian L. White, director of the nursing service in the Pacific division of the American Red Cross, is calling for 75 enlistments in her territory, California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah.

Any nurse interested in getting into this field for service to the ex-service man can communicate with the Red Cross chapter or the nearest local committee on Red Cross nursing service for the details of enlistment.

The Long Beach chapter I. O. O. F. cordially invites all members of the order and their families at a community picnic to be held at Bixby park, Long Beach, Labor day, September 5. Coffee and lemonade served free. Bring your lunch.

METHODISTS TO GET
NEW PIPE-ORGAN

Covina Methodist Episcopal church is to be equipped with a new pipe-organ, the first to be installed in the city.

This fact became known this week when Rev. W. C. Geyer, pastor, said that the remaining indebtedness on the church had been subscribed, and that within a few days the pledges would be turned into actual cash that would wipe out all obligations.

Contingent upon the payment of the church debt has been a gift that some months ago was offered by W. P. Watts, well known rancher, who lives at the corner of Puente street and Citrus avenue. Mr. Watts made it known that he would present the church with money to buy the most suitable organ obtainable as soon as the members had raised the remaining amount due on the church building.

During the past few weeks members have been active in obtaining pledges, and subscription papers have been circulated which have met with a splendid response. The pastor said this week that the goal was so near that he had no doubt of obtaining all the money necessary, but that the work would be carried on during the next few days, when all pledges will be turned into money.

The Methodist church has an admirable position for an organ, back of the pulpit platform in an alcove designed especially for this purpose. It is intended that the various makes of instruments will be looked into carefully, and an organ entirely adapted to the size of the church and the character of the work will be chosen.

BONITA GIRLS TO DRESS
IN UNIFORM STYLE

Before the close of the last school session, the girl students at Bonita high school voted to dress alike this coming year. A costume similar to the one worn by high school girls at Pasadena was decided upon.

This uniform will consist of a full plaited blue serge skirt, with a white middie blouse with blue collar and cuffs. We also understand that black cotton stockings and common sense low heeled shoes will be worn with it. This costume is very neat and practical, as well as universally becoming, and will doubtless prove very satisfactory to wearer and observer alike.—La Verne Leader.

RECEPTION PRECEDES ARMY MAN'S WEDDING

Lieutenant Wilbur S. Nye's wedding furlough, always a significant milestone in the career of a subaltern, was given most pleasing recognition by the people of Covina city and valley last Friday evening in Masonic temple, when, standing with bride-to-be, Miss Elleano Griffiths, he shared congratulations with this popular Covina girl whom he is to marry on Wednesday evening, September 7, in Holy Trinity Episcopal church.

Lieutenant Nye's boyhood here, his public schooling, his enlistment in an ambulance corps at the outbreak of the world-war, and his transference by the adjutant-general to West Point for study, with subsequent graduation and assignment to regular service, are facts that make him well known to a very large number in the valley. He is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Nye of Rowland avenue. Miss Griffiths, also a product of the valley, is one of the most popular of the younger social set. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Griffiths of Badillo street.

In the beautiful, new temple recently opened by the Masonic fraternity of the city and valley, this homecoming was made a peculiarly happy one, with about 350 guests present. Besides the bride-and-groom-to-be and their parents, the receiving was participated in by Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Olmstead of Pasadena, the latter a sister of Mrs. Nye; Miss Alma Stieckel of Pasadena; Miss Eva D. Edwards, principal of the Covina grammar school; Carroll Nye, brother of the lieutenant; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Nye, the former a brother of the lieutenant's father and a professor in the University of Southern California; Mr. and Mrs. H. Ivor Thomas of Los Angeles, cousins of Mr. Nye; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Wolfe of Los Angeles, uncle and aunt of Miss Griffiths; and Ralph and Margaret Nye, young brother and sister of the lieutenant. Lieutenant Donald Van Stieckel, a classmate of Lieutenant Nye at West Point, was a special guest of the evening, and among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Brown of Los Angeles, the latter formerly known here as Miss Grace Fuller. Another friend from a distance, who assisted at the punch bowl, was Miss Gladys Sherwood, formerly of this valley.

Miss Griffiths was exquisitely gowned in a dress of old Spanish lace, which was brought here from Spain and became her possession through the girl's grandmother, Mrs. Pollard. Lieutenant Nye was in new army regulation of white full dress, the off-duty uniform recently adopted, with rank insignia and artillery bars.

The guests made full use of the new ballroom, where music was supplied by Kenneth Lipke and a group of dance musicians. Dancing was fully enjoyed until midnight, while bridge was played in the billiard room and Eastern Star parlors, arranged by Mrs. E. G. Prather and Miss Lilian Douglass. Distinctly a feature of the dancing was the lieutenant's fox-trotting with his little sister, Margaret.

The affair became one of a number that have been held in anticipation of the coming wedding, many house parties and showers having been for Miss Griffiths by her friends in the city and valley. Lieutenant Nye is bulletined to join his regiment at Camp Lewis, Washington, at the end of his furlough.

MRS. GILLETT GIVEN FAREWELL RECEPTION

Coming as an honor to her because of her valued services as a member and a director of the Monday Afternoon club for a number of years, the members of that organization gathered last Thursday afternoon in a beautifully-decorated clubhouse, and gave a farewell reception to Mrs. F. B. Gillett, who is moving this week to Whittier to make her permanent residence in that neighboring city.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillett are leaving Covina in order to be nearer to the furniture business which Mr. Gillett has built up in that city. The store in Covina is being closed out. While it is not understood that the social and fraternal circles of Covina will entirely lose sight of these popular people, it was considered fitting that a recognition of their departure be made by the club, and the affair was planned by Mrs. C. E. Paige, club president, with members of the directorate assisting.

Mrs. Gillett has been a director of the Monday Afternoon club for four years, one year under the leadership of Mrs. Aschenbrenner and three years with Mrs. Matthews. Members of the boards of directors who have served with her in these past years were in the receiving line, and among those who came from out-of-town were Mrs. Charles Gillett, her cousin, Mrs. W. D. Merickel of Balboa, and Mrs. Charity Smart and Mrs. Elizabeth Smart of Los Angeles.

The decorations consisted of quantities of pink amaryllis, asters and zinnias, heralding the fall season of profuse bloom in the Covina valley, and were selected by a committee composed of Mrs. Tom Brunjes, Mrs. Seth Colver and Mrs. Ed Walters. A feature of the occasion was the presentation to Mrs. Gillett of an exquisite bouquet, as a token of the club's appreciation of her assistance in the past.

The ladies served iced tea and cake, and the afternoon was spent informally, including a program of music. Mrs. Charlotte White, soprano, sang several numbers, accompanied by Mrs. George Phillips. Violin solos were rendered by Cecil Burke, accompanied at piano by Thelma Burke, and there were aesthetic dances given by Miss Cristel Levine, accompanied at piano by Miss Frances Maxson.

Your Paint Dollar —How Big in 5 Years?

THE best paint will be good five or more years hence, if properly applied. Cheap paint, on the average, starts cracking in twelve months.

It's what paint covers that you want to save—not merely a few cents per gallon in first cost.

Cheap paint does not spread as easily or as far as good paint. So when you figure labor and square yards covered, cheap paint on the house costs as much as good paint.

Cheap paint in practically every instance, is the most expensive you can buy.

Don't allow surfaces to rot. It costs less to paint them.

The paints specified by Fuller are the result of 72 years experience in the making of all kinds of paints, varnishes, etc., for western use.

We use the best materials, PURE PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, zinc and color as others do, but we combine them with a 72 years' knowledge and long-time skill.

Our white-lead base is finely ground pure white. It must pass through a silk screen with 40,000 meshes to the square inch. We use special machines for mixing the materials in scientifically exact proportions.

So Fuller colors are exceptionally clear-toned and Fuller House Paints are noted for covering capacity, ease of spread and great durability.

If you want from five or more years' protection for your property investment, get Fuller's western paint for western weather conditions—a paint you know.

GOOD MAXWELL CARRIES 20 PEOPLE UP STEEP GRADE

Los Angeles was introduced to a new kind of automobile demonstration last week. Taking a term from military parlance, it was a demonstration "en masse." Motor car salesmen are accustomed to taking their prospective buyers out in a car and putting it through its paces—climbing stunt hills and the like to show them its power and stamina. The new way is to take a car out and put it over ALL the stunt hills of the city, with its seats, fenders and hood piled high with "live weight," salesmen or others handy to fill in to make the top weight the car will safely carry over the stunt hills.

George Pearson, Jr., manager of sales for the Union Motors, Inc., distributors of the good Maxwell, and his assistant, Conan A. Doyle, were the initiators of the new way of doing it. In ordinary, every day demonstrations, Doyle had discovered that the Maxwell would climb any hill where its wheels could obtain traction. There seemed to be no limit to its power, so he consulted with Pearson and they decided to take a Maxwell out and send it over every stunt hill on the list, with the car loaded with every single person they could pile on it.

West Second street, between Hope and Bunker Hill avenue, has always been considered a good test hill, so they tried it first. Fourteen men were piled on the car anywhere they could get a hand or foothold—that was all that were available in that vicinity at that time—and the powerful little car just romped up to the top despite its load of 2310 pounds.

Then they went over to Grand avenue for a try at the steep slope between Fifth and Fourth streets. They found the streets badly torn up, but with the help of 16 men they managed to stage the stunt. The sixteen, weighing a total of 2640 pounds, were piled on the car and up she went without a falter. Then came Quintero street, just off Sunset boulevard, where so many cars have met their Waterloo in the past. Here they decided to try and make her quit. Twenty huskies were assembled and after some difficulty were able to find holds somewhere on the fenders, springs or hood and off they went up the steep grade.

Dozens of motorists and truck drivers, curious to see whether they would make it or not, stopped their cars on the boulevard and for 5 or 10 minutes traffic was at a standstill—even street cars being held up. But there was no doubt about it—up she went from bottom to top without the slightest tremble, and now Pearson and Doyle are trying to figure out something real difficult for the Maxwell to do. After climbing the Quintero grade the car was taken over to a vacant field nearby and sent through some stunts in the soft dirt.—Adv.

LOCAL ATTORNEY EXPLAINS "SMALL CLAIMS COURT"

The legislature of this state at its last session enacted a statute creating a "Small Claims Court," to be operated in conjunction with the justice court, but being limited to cases where the indebtedness does not exceed fifty dollars, and where the defendant is a resident of the township where the action is brought. In order that the people of this township may be able to avail themselves of the benefits of this law I will explain briefly the method of procedure.

The claimant first appears and executes an affidavit prepared by the justice of the peace, stating the amount of the indebtedness, that payment has been demanded and refused and setting forth the residence of the defendant. The justice of the peace then sets the date of the hearing and mails notice to the defendant of the claim and the date of the hearing by registered mail. On the date set for the hearing the parties appear before the justice of the peace with whatever evidence they may have and the matter is threshed out in an informal manner.

No person other than the plaintiff and defendant is permitted to take any part in the litigation, and no claim which has been assigned can be sued on in this court by the assignee. No formal pleading is required and hearing and disposition of all such claims is informal, with the sole object of dispensing speedy justice between the parties. No attachment or garnishment can be issued from the small claims court but execution will be issued as in other cases.

The judgment of this court is conclusive upon the plaintiff and he cannot appeal, but the defendant has the right within five days after judgment to appeal to the superior court. If, however, he is unsuccessful in his appeal, fifteen dollars attorneys fees will be added to the amount of the judgment against him.

In other words, all the claimant has to do is to appear before the justice of the peace and sign the necessary affidavit. Appear again at the date set for the hearing and tell his story. There are no filing fees, no trial fees, no attorney's fees or any other fees or charges of any kind.

This branch of the justice court should become quite popular among those having claims under fifty dollars, and I see no reason why it should not be used almost exclusively for the collection of such claims.

THOS. B. REED,
Justice of the Peace of Covina Township.

Let's Boost Awhile Instead of Knocking

The following is by Edward Insley, night editor of the Los Angeles Examiner, who lives in Covina on his ranch on East Badillo street: Editor of the Argus—

As many another citizen did last week, I remarked to a friend: "Mr. Nigg was a fine man. His death is a great loss."

"Yes," was the reply, "I never knew a squarer man. I never expect to know one."

Then, with a sudden smile, he continued:

"Why don't we say these things about our neighbors before they are dead?"

Yes, why don't we? The answer may be that we do—sometimes. But not often enough. Isn't it the fact that in Covina, where there are so many good men and good citizens, whom we respect for their admirable qualities, and will say nice things about them when they are dead, we are prone to criticize, and to quarrel among ourselves much more than we should?

Three years ago when I picked out Covina as a place in which to raise my family, it was largely because of the high quality of the people who live here. My opinion of them has not changed. But I have found to my regret, that like many excellent families, this large Covina family of ours is prone to quarrel over matters that might better be conciliated, and prone to say the unkind things, letting the kind part wait for the funerals.

It is not wise for families to quarrel. It is not wise for the folks in our own town to have such bitter factional disputes. Differences of opinion are inevitable in families and in communities. But there are different ways of carrying them on, and reaching a conclusion.

It is the schools I have mostly in mind at the present moment, that grandest of our civic institutions, and the one in which Alois Nigg was so deeply and unselfishly interested. I did not always agree with Mr. Nigg, and particularly so concerning the school nurse question. But he was a man with whom one could differ, without bitterness.

There are important and difficult problems affecting the immediate future of our high school, to be explicit, which require not only good judgment, but unbiased consideration by the people of our town. And the loss of Mr. Nigg may easily mean that our splendid grammar school may also be involved in the unfortunate factional dispute which is interfering with the efficiency and the development of our high school.

What a grand tribute it would be to the memory of Mr. Nigg, if it inspired us to compose our differences, and work for the single advantage of our city and its children, rather than our little political faction?

I say little, because those who are responsible, as our local leaders, for the continuance of these controversies, are a very small minority. While the remainder of us may note this way or that, when we get a chance, we are increasingly inclined to say with merit, "A plague o' both the houses." Unless I am mistaken, there is a growing impatience on the part of a great majority with the present situation.

Not only as a citizen and taxpayer, but as the father of children attending both the grammar and the high school, I feel deeply about this matter. And I sometimes wonder how many of those responsible for it have children of their own in the schools. For it is to the children and their welfare that we should devote our unselfish attention.

Probably it would prove unwise for the parent-teachers association to undertake the task of conciliation. The useful influence of the Men's club might be impaired if it interfered. But some body should make the attempt to bring about a different and better state of affairs. A committee of citizens in whom the people had confidence could do it. But how to get such a committee together?

With much diffidence, and solely from a sense of duty, I suggest that if Mr. Rinehart of the Citizen and Mr. Matthews of the Argus, for instance, were each to name four persons, with the idea that this nucleus of a committee would enlarge its membership, there would be hope for the schools, and hope for hearing some of the good things said about our excellent citizens before their funerals take place.

Start in motion the machinery for organizing a brand new "Boosters' Committee" with a new high school as its immediate purpose. Let's boost awhile instead of knocking so much. The change would be both refreshing and profitable.

EDWARD INSLEY.

SOUTH HOLLENBECK AND EAST CYPRESS SURFACED

Henry Holmes, local road superintendent for the county, announces this week that East Cypress avenue has been placed in good condition by rolling and smoothing, and work of a similar character has been done on South Hollenbeck street.

The work will put the roads in good condition for some time, he said, and would be undoubtedly satisfactory in place of macadamizing, which is not possible at the present time.

Werden's Oakland Six in Remarkable Trip

Up into the Big Basin country, among the redwoods, 23 miles from Santa Cruz, and on to San Francisco, Berkeley and other points north is the trip just completed by Mr. and Mrs. Hervey A. Werden, the former the proprietor of the Palace of Sweets.

The trip was made in an Oakland "Sensible Six" of the 1921 model, and Mr. Werden says that he made the trip of 1,030 miles without even the trouble of a puncture. A great amount of the journey was over mountain roads of the steepest grades in the state. While going into the Big Basin he negotiated a few miles on intermediate, but for 47 miles, over the Tejon pass the machine never left high gear. The only difficulty he had in driving on high was the crowding of the car in the lead, Mr. Werden said. It is the second Oakland that he bought of the local agency, which is handled by Harry R. Webber of the Covina garage, and he has only praise for the manner in which this car performed on the diversified trip of mountains and desert.

The car made an average of 23 9-10 miles to the gallon of gasoline for the entire 1,030 miles, and he used one gallon of oil. The roads were good everywhere, even in the mountains, he said, with the exception of a few short detours.

With them were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Werden, father of the Covina merchant, and the baby of the Werden household. They visited Stanford and California universities, and stopped with friends and relatives in several places, including Modesto, which Mr. Werden says is a wonderfully prosperous city and country.

Mr. Werden is spending much of his time this week in getting established in a new bungalow on San Bernardino road, between Citrus and Third street, a home which he has been building this summer with the aid of his father, who is a building contractor.

HUNTINGTON MUTUAL IS FINANCED IN VALLEY

Jesse Berry of Covina, who is president and manager of the Huntington Mutual Oil Company, which is largely financed by stockholders in the upper San Gabriel valley, announced yesterday that the company had taken a lease on 160 acres of oil land in the Coalinga field, one of the largest producing fields in the state.

Mr. Berry said that this lease was closed in order to be ready for future development as soon as the Huntington Mutual well at Huntington Beach had gone down to oil and was in full operation. He said that the well upon which the rotary machinery is now working was in the center of the great Huntington Beach pool, and that he had not a shadow of doubt but that it would be one of the big paying wells within a few months.

"The Huntington Mutual is selling stock and paying for its equipment as it goes along," he said. "We have no debts and don't intend to have any. As soon as the well comes in we can begin paying dividends immediately, as we will have no 'dead horse' bills to pay."

"We need more money, however. The rotary machinery is paid for and in operation. But the well casing should be on the ground. We are selling every day to many ranchers and business men in the valley, but we want to have the money in hand before we buy the casing, and we want money to use for fuel and labor. That's what we are working on at the present time."

Mr. Berry called attention to the fact that this week the Coalinga union workmen had composed their differences on the wage question, accepting a reduction of a dollar a day, and that this was a forerunner for a general reduction which would adjust the cost of operation on a more satisfactory basis. Mr. Berry believes that oil will be commanding a good price this winter for the reason that the consumption of gasoline is growing all over the world, while some of the most famous oil fields are not producing as high as in the past.

"Nearly all the stock in the Huntington Mutual has been sold by ranchers who are stockholders to other ranchers," said Mr. Berry. "This is a local concern. It is being administered very economically. And when this well comes in it will enrich the people of this valley, not some other locality."

ENID BENNETT TONIGHT AT THE STAR THEATER

"Silk Hosiery" is the title of the picture shown tonight and tomorrow night at the Star theater, with Enid Bennett in the leading role.

The wistful little girl who sits on a stool in the most fashionable department store in New York and wonders if she will ever be able to wear such wonderful silk stockings as she sells, is suddenly transported to the realm of New York fashionable life. Enid Bennett can act and wear silk stockings with an air that captivates audiences. With this picture is a Harold Lloyd comedy, "Captain Kid's Kids."

Dorothy Dalton in "The Idol of the North" is the offering on Monday and Tuesday. Gold and the lure of it, and beauty in the midst of the rough life of Alaska's no-man's-land, is the setting of the story. Dorothy Dalton made a tremendous hit in her picture, "The Flame of the Yukon," and this is a companion picture to it.

ELMER NIGG TAKES OVER MANAGEMENT OF BUSINESS

Elmer A. Nigg, who was in partnership with his father, A. Nigg, who died last week, has announced that the business of orchard tool making in which they participated will be carried on by himself, in partnership with his mother, under the name of E. A. Nigg & Co.

Mr. Nigg said that he did not contemplate any radical changes at present, but would keep the shop up to its original capacity, and would take care of all the trade that has been built up in the past years. The shop has made a specialty of orchard tractor tools, and is widely known throughout this valley and generally in Southern California.

They were obliged to keep a fire going practically all the time to keep from being uncomfortably cold. They caught all the fish they wanted at every place where they camped.

This country is the wildest and most beautiful that can be reached on a comparatively short trip of two weeks, and although the roads over the mountains are very bad, the trip was well worth while in every way, they said.

CHILD WELFARE CAMPAIGN FOR THE HOME ORPHANS

Editor of the Covina Argus—

The end of the world war found the great heart of America throbbing in sympathetic unison for the "little ones" of Christ, the innocent victims of the most frightful holocaust in modern times. Big-hearted America responded in its own magnanimous way, the purse strings were loosened and money, food and clothing poured in a mighty golden stream across the seas. Today the bureau of Catholic charities, in its infancy, non-sectarian in its activities, ministering to all, irrespective of race, color, or creed makes its "baby" appeal, for the innocent victims of poverty, disease and helplessness fighting today against terrible odds, high at our very doors.

The bureau of Catholic charities asks for the "widows' mite." Listen to the facts kind friends.

The bureau must raise $50,000 for 1921-22. Last year the bureau expended $42,000 for board of children.

1,000 children under care in institutions and private homes.

52 volunteer doctors, dentists, nurses. The bureau supervises 6 orphanages, 1 sanitarium, 1 infant asylum, 2 day nurseries, 2 Americanization centers, 1 home for wayward girls, and 1 old folks' home.

The child welfare campaign drive begins on Sunday, the 4th of September, and closes Monday, September 12. Official or personal checks made payable to the bureau of Catholic charities shall be gratefully received and acknowledged by the bureau.

Thanking you in advance, we remain

M. H. GEARY,

Pastor Sacred Heart Church.

Making Mental Cripples

The real life of the community centers in the schools. When the schools close, business may continue, churches may continue to hold services and lodges hold sessions, but the community is merely marking time until the schools open again. The school is the heart of the community, and all other activity is arterial and made to feed it.

Anything that injures the schools injures the entire community. If the injury is lasting it will cripple the community. If schools are not allowed to expand ahead of the community, then the community will not expand.

When schools become inadequate and remain so for any long period, the community begins to stagnate and slip back.

People who oppose school improvement with honest convictions against specific plans, and who wish to substitute other and progressive plans, cannot be censured, providing they do provide substitute plans. But people who oppose school improvements simply because they have a jealous grudge are enemies to progress. They are dogs in the manger, who will neither benefit nor allow others to benefit. They cripple the scholar at a time when crippling is a serious matter. If they oppose plans intelligently and propose other plans just as intelligent and perhaps more economical, they cannot be accused of a lack of public spirit. But if they destroy the plans of others simply to destroy and for personal reasons, actuated by jealousy and individual hatred, they are dangerous and most undesirable citizens.

If there are citizens in the Covina valley who have plans for the improvement of the schools, let them come forward and present them. If there are citizens here who have no program, and merely wish to obstruct, let them consider that they are not hurting the people they may be aiming at, but are injuring future citizens, young boys and girls who must get their education now or never.

The Best Times Are to Come

This valley has marketed its Valencia this year at a price which has been above the cost of production, although not accompanied by large profit.

The walnut crop, although hit in spots by a frost last spring, is in the aggregate larger than last year.

Living costs are lower than they have been since 1915. While there has been a depression in business in the east, there has been no depression here. Business has been quieter than during some of the years of the war, but the volume of business has been greater than in any years prior to the war. There are facts.

Indicative of a very good season in business is the building situation. What affects Los Angeles affects all of Southern California. Building permits in that city reached seven millions, as against less than two millions for the same month in 1919. There is more building in progress in every town in Southern California than at any time during or before the war. Towns of the upper San Gabriel valley, including Covina, are in a more genuinely prosperous condition than ever before in history. There isn't as much ready money right now as there was in the false days of 1918, but there is more real prosperity. Our bank reports are the marvel of the towns of the middle west. It must be a town of more than fifteen thousand people in the country back yonder to equal our bank deposits.

Anyone deciding to enlarge a business or to increase investments should do it now. The best times are to come.

Poor Business

Bank robbing as a business has a certain amount of excitement attached to it, and it is a sure method of obtaining personal publicity in the newspapers. But compared with running a hardware store, or some equally humdrum business, it pays out very poor returns.

Reviewing the bank robberies of Southern California of the past few years it is found that with one or two exceptions the robbers have been rounded up by the police in the course of a few days or a few months after the robbery, and it is a class of crime that draws a long sentence in the jail mills run by the state, with almost no chance of probation. Courts are prone to look leniently on some kinds of crime, especially when the criminal is a beardless youth or a pretty girl, but courts don't favor the bank robber.

Using a gun or nitroglycerine to obtain money from a bank may be about the only way some people can get it from a bank, but the bank officials, the police and the general public resent it. Most people find that it is a mighty hard road that they are obliged to travel before they can walk into a bank and ask for money and get it. There is a lot of work and worry that goes before this operation is successful. And they have little sympathy for the man or woman who goes in with a gun and comes out with all the money the place has accumulated, and afterwards is run down and assigned to the making of sacks at San Quentin.

Bank robbing is not a paying business. Youths with criminal instincts had best weigh the chances very carefully and decide to gather money in smaller lots by labor, putting some of it in the bank, and later, when they have put in an apprenticeship at work, they may step into a bank and demand and receive a modest roll without creating any disturbance.

Do business with a bank in the usual, conservative way. It is slow, arduous, but safe.

Covina People Visit Great Redwood Forest

Governor Stephens, at one time when he visited California Redwood park of ten thousand acres of the sequoia sempervirens, above Santa Cruz, said: "Here dwell Rest, Peace, Repose, Serenity and Sublimity."

Covina valley people, returning from that wonderful park this week echo these words. The Wardens of the Palace of Sweets say that this trip is like losing the world and finding one's self again. While it is an easy trip to reach the park by automobile, it is nevertheless a wonderful change from the scenes of the valley. In giant groves of silent redwoods, towering three and four hundred feet the scene is like that of a great cathedral. There is indeed, a solemn hush in these great groves that is like unto nothing but the mystery and the spiritual calm of a great house of worship.

This region of the redwoods was rescued from the maw of the sawmills by an act of the legislature, and it is now a state forest, held forever for the people. The redwoods are the oldest living things on earth. These trees of this forest remind the human who reads beneath them that they were old when Christ made his memorable journey into Jerusalem. They were flourishing when the Romans invaded the wild island of England. They have entertained the winds in their trunks during the time reckoned by Christian history, and antedate almost every known fact concerning the human race.

And now, that the state has rescued them from the vandalism of commerce, they are to stand, probably centuries more, while generations come and go and civilization changes and progresses or passes away. Hundreds of camping parties visit the groves every day, going in by Saratoga, ascending the fine gravel roads.

Dr. F. J. Cline and his family of Covina are now camping in this region. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Matthews have recently returned from a trip which included a few days in this great forest.

It was resolved by Woodmen of the World, that a letter embodying our sympathy and regret be sent to our esteemed neighbor's widow and family, extending to them our respectful and heartfelt sorrow in their bereavement. Knowing from our own great loss of a courteous comrade, friend and counselor, the greater loss they have sustained in a good husband and father.

The gas you burn is only a small item in your total cost of operation. Add to that the cost of oil, rubber, repairs and depreciation in the value of the machine, and see "where you are getting off."

The government says it is costing you from 9 cents to 14 cents per mile.

You can ride the Pacific Electric way for 3c per mile for the occasional journey and for about 1 1/2c per mile for the frequent (commutation) trips.

"CAN YOU BEAT IT?" YOU CAN NOT!

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Coupe

HERE is one of the most useful of all closed cars. Specifically so when not more than two or three are to be accommodated with reliable car service. The Ford Coupe is a mighty cosy car, in that it is absolutely water-tight, at the same time with its sliding plate glass windows you can have an open car, to all intents and purposes, in a couple of minutes. So it doesn't make any difference what the weather may be, rain or shine, summer or winter, in the Ford Coupe you have an enclosed car of comfort and service. What more do want?

It has proven particularly a valuable car for traveling salesmen, physicians, engineers, architects, and others who have much out-of-door work all the year around. We have never been able to fully meet all demands for the Ford Coupe, but with the increased producing capacities of the factory we are now able to make reasonably prompt deliveries. Yet we urge you to leave your order with as little delay as possible—our allotment is limited.

Kaynee Blouse for Boys Wear Longer, 'Tis Said

Two women were riding "on top"
on a Fifth avenue bus in New York.
In a seat in front of them were two boys.

One of the women turned to the other and said: "Mrs. S., how long has Jack had that blouse he's wearing?"

"Why, I should say about two months," replied Mrs. S. "Why?"
"Well, that blouse Bill has on,"
said her friend, "has only been laun-dered twice and I was just noting the difference. Jack's blouse fits him perfectly and really looks like a new blouse. Now notice how Bill's drags at the shoulders and across the back and the colors seem to have faded, too.
I think I'll have to change my laundry."

"Are you sure it's the laundry?"
asked Mrs. S.

"No, I'm not," replied her friend,
"but it may be."

"I don't think it's the laundry," said Mrs. S. "I think it's the blouse.
I need to have the same trouble but I don't have it now. There was a time when I bought any blouse a dealer showed me if the pattern and style seemed suitable. Then one day I went into a specialty shop in Fifth avenue.
I'd seen some attractive blouses in the window. I told the clerk what I wanted and he showed me several styles.
They cost a trifle more than I'd been paying and I told him so."

"I have a less expensive blouse," said the clerk, "but if you'll permit me to make a suggestion I think you'll find this Kaynee blouse less expensive in the end."

"I don't remember just where he said it was made but he told me about a model factory where only the most skillful labor was employed and the best obtainable materials used. Then he added, 'These Kaynee blouses are strictly guaranteed. They will not fade.
They will not shrink. They are carefully tailored so that they will not change their shape. You'll find they will look quite as well after they've been tubbed a dozen times as they do now. I think you'll also find that they will wear longer and that the added life and the satisfaction you'll get from them will much more than offset the small additional cost.'"

"What he said," continued Mrs. S.,
"was very convincing and I bought half a dozen. That was two years ago and I haven't bought any blouses that were not marked Kaynee since. I have found that that clerk didn't half state the merits of the Kaynee blouse."

"Can't we stop at that store?" asked her friend. "I'll buy a dozen blouses for Bill and take them back home with me."

This conversation is not at all unusual. Thousands of mothers are talking about the merits of Kaynee blouses.
Thousands of other mothers are listening and following a suggestion to buy Kaynee.

The woman on the bus may have traveled a thousand miles to get the story. We do not know where her home was, but we do know this: some merchant in some town had neglected his opportunity in not informing Mrs.
S.'s friend that she could buy Kaynee blouses right where she lived.

Kaynee blouses are on sale at the Broadwell store in Covina.

appears in the Sept. 9th issue of the San Gabriel valley edition of the Argus.

TEAGUE SAYS TARIFF INCREASE IS ASSURED

That the Fordney tariff bill will contain a provision for a tariff of two cents on lemons when it is finally passed, is the opinion of C. C. Teague of Santa Paula, president of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, who returned this week from Washington.

Lemon growers in the San Gabriel valley, who aided Mr. Teague in the fight before the house ways and means committee, including directors and managers of Covina fruit associations, are of the opinion that the two cent rate will prevail, according to statements made yesterday.

Mr. Teague also stated that the tariff on walnuts will probably be increased from 2½ cents to four cents. Of this schedule, however, Mr. Teague was not so sure. A valiant fight has been carried on in the house for these schedules, with every member of the California delegation in congress fighting for the increases. Congressman Lineberger has been an indefatigable worker for the lemon and walnut tariffs.

In solving the health problem CHIROPRACTIC stands head and shoulders above all methods. It gets results where others fail. NEW POWER LAWN-MOWER FOR COVINA HIGH SCHOOL

One of the additions to the equipment of the Covina union high school this year will be a large gas-driven lawn mower, purchased this week by the trustees.

The machine will take the place of the machine that was run by electric cord connection, and which proved to be inadequate for the work.

The monthly San Gabriel valley edition of the Argus is the best and cheapest advertising medium to cover this territory.

TWO HUNDRED TWENTY-FIVE MILES ON GALLON OF OIL

It is a crime to waste the resources of nature. My car was using a gallon of lubricating oil every 225 miles. I took it to "Dad" Webber and now I have gone over that number of miles and have used less than a quart. See Dad about it. He can do the same for your car if it is an oil hog. 1tp
